General Notes About Website

- Many features are on a different site with a different layout (catalog, archives, e-books, etc.). Some of it can't be helped since their resources are from other sources, but if the layout/color scheme stayed consistent it might be better.
- Limited filter function when searching through material. Also not very visible and not very clear what you can filter.
- Sometimes the filters themselves are links, which is a bit weird. It's not entirely clear that you can only filter for one item in a subcategory, for example, you can only filter for material from 2000-2017, but you can't filter for material from 2000-2005 and 2015-2017.
- Formatting of pages includes a large block with a picture and a description of the page, but this pushes all the page details down, which isn't that nice.

Grad Student

Latina, mid-20s. At USC for her PhD, went to UCLA for her masters. Where she's from, Pomona, is a strong part of her identity. Interested in mobility issues (for example, transportation patterns) for Black/Brown people, which relates to her personal family history. First got involved w/ Library as an intern 3 or so years ago. Has only recently started using Library for research but now is really excited about what's here. Library is important to her; very different from how she feels at other archives (intimidated, unimportant). Introduces others to the Library. Word of mouth a key way word gets spread about the Library. Involved with other groups, presents at conferences, likes to go on tours, to museums. Has a MySpace page.

KEY WORDS

- Busy, involved in range of activities
- Personal passion about her research/academic interests
- Highly motivated to get information; seeking in-depth knowledge
- High education level, high level of comfort with technology
- Becoming more comfortable w/ library procedures
- Frequent Library user

Scenario

- Grad student is doing research on black/brown people, mostly focused on transportation or mobility issues. She is currently interested in browsing the archives and seeing the historical papers and the thoughts from those times. She intends to visit the library in the future to view the archives in person.

Research

With four research centers, expansive historic collections, and a variety of fellowships and resources, The New York Public Library is an invaluable resource for scholars worldwide.

► The Human Experience Through Primary Sources

Archives are the records created by people and organizations as they lived and worked. Collections can range in size from a single letter or diary to thousands of boxes of institutional records. They can contain drafts of literary works, financial records, meeting minutes, reports, memorabilia, as well as sound recordings, videos, film, databases, and software.

On this site, you can search The New York Public Library's vast holdings, initiate a research visit, submit a query to an archivist, and access digitized material.

Seems limited on filters (time and collection). It's clear that it's there though, although making it the same font color as the results might be a bit confusing.

Color of filters and results show that they're links though, although that may not be clear at first to some people.

A different result. Have to admit that on the other result I didn't really look at this white boxed section. Maybe give it a heading saying summary or overview so that the heading catches the eye?

Think the using collection section might be a bit redundant now since it states it up top.

This collection of approximately 500 periodical titles has been assembled over the years by the staff of the Schomburg Center. It includes sample issues of black periodicals published in the United States, West Indies, and Africa, as well as other publications dealing primarily with Africa or peoples of African descent.

SCOPE AND ARRANGEMENT

This collection of approximately 500 periodical titles has been assembled over the years by the staff of the Schomburg Center. It includes sample issues of black periodicals published in the United States, West Indies, and Africa, as well as other publications dealing primarily with Africa or peoples of African descent.

The titles were retained as representative samples of periodicals published by black people or primarily about them. In most cases the issues which appear here are the only ones held by the Schomburg Center. In other cases however, there are other scattered issues or incomplete files available at the Schomburg.

The periodicals are arranged alphabetically by title. The citations in the inventory include where available, the place and date of publication, and volume and issue numbers. The periodicals were microfilmed in 1971; new titles acquired between 1971 and 1994 were microfilmed separately as "Additions". Titles acquired since 1994 are listed separately and are available in the Manuscripts, Archives and Rare Books Division of the Center.

"Experimental tools popped up. The new color makes it stand out for people to use. Maybe if the words experimental tool was in the button it would make it clear. Also maybe if it was a bit separate from the buttons - maybe a line or two under overview - it would be clearer that this button just showed up.

A description of the tools somewhere would be nice. Maybe have a small box show up somewhere in the tool with a description.
